Demographic Change

Challenges and Opportunities for Business, Politics and Society

Organised by the World Demographic & Ageing Forum

WELCOME TO THE WORLD AGEING & GENERATIONS CONGRESS

'If we talk about the two billion older people that will inhabit this planet by 2050, it still means that these two billion are composed of individuals, a diverse group who contribute to society in many, many different ways.'

(Professor Dr. Ilona Kickbusch, Chairperson of the World Ageing & Generations Congress)

How can organisations adapt their innovation management and product development strategies and processes to the business potential of the 'silver market'? Are the destinies of countries inevitably dictated by significant demographic shifts or can policy makers change the impact of these shifts? How do the challenges of maintaining quality of life for older people compare in emerging market countries? These are but a few of the intricate and highly relevant questions that will be addressed at the 6th World Ageing & Generations Congress 2010.

The aim of the World Ageing & Generations Congress is to take the upcoming demographic change into focus, assemble thought leaders, and engage in studying the challenge of the ageing world population. The Congress' lively sessions and thought-provoking panel discussions will explore the impact of the demographic change in Work and Welfare, Vitality and Health, Innovation and Markets, Lifestyle and Society, and Ageing and Development.

The Congress is both an educational and a mind-shifting event – an international and interdisciplinary platform attended by decision-makers from all spheres of society and by a general audience that is concerned with the consequences of global demographic shifts.

MASTER CLASSES

This year the WDA Forum has invited its prominent Fellows to lecture a Master Class as an addition to our 6th World Ageing & Generations Congress 2010. The aim of these Master Classes is to offer congress participants and other interested persons a deeper analysis of certain topics. Attending the class will give you a profound and an up-to-date understanding of the topic. Experts in the field of demographics and ageing from our worldwide WDA Forum network are invited to lecture the Master Class. They will transfer their knowledge and most recent work into comprehensible and exciting new insights, relevant for practitioners, scholars and policy makers.

EXHIBITION

Universal Design

The exhibition „Universal Design: Designing our Future“ displays more than 50 user-friendly products which improve the quality of life for young and old. Those will be presented in an interactive way: touching and trying out are encouraged. The exhibition will be held in the library building of the University of St. Gallen during the Congress.

‘Whatever you call it – universal design, design-for-all, lifespan design – the worldwide movement for human centred design with everyone in mind is gaining momentum.’ Valerie Fletcher

Opening Keynote

Robert William Fogel is a professor of economics and the director of the Center for Population Economics at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. He is best known as one of the original proponents of cliometrics, the application of quantitative methods to the study of economics and history. In recent years, his research has focused on the economics and biodemography of aging. He received the Nobel Prize in economics in 1993 and was recognized as the Indispensable Person of the Year for Health Research by the Alliance for Aging Research in 2006.

Plenary Panels

I: Demography Meets Development

Keynote: Sir Richard Jolly, Honorary Professorial Fellow of the Institute of Development Studies at Sussex, UK, and Co-Director of the UN Intellectual History Project.

This high-level panel with a focus on Africa will discuss key issues pertaining to demographic transition and policy considerations on finance, social policy issues, employment and economic growth.

In cooperation with HelpAge International

II: Demography Meets Geopolitics

Keynote: Richard Jackson, Director and Senior Fellow of the CSIS Global Aging Institute, USA

The implications of population shifts in major players on the world political and economic scene will have inevitable negative and positive consequences for all other countries. Are the destinies of countries dictated by these demographic shifts, or can policy makers change the impact of these shifts?

III: Demography Meets Dementia

How to confront the challenges of a growing ageing population and the increasing prevalence of dementia

Chair: David Shenk, Author and correspondent, New York, USA

This interdisciplinary panel discussion brings together experts from several fields to discuss ways to meet the challenges of an ageing population and respond to the special concerns of a growing population of elderly people with dementia.

Presented and organised by Pfizer Inc., USA

IV: Demography Meets Quality of Life and Health

Chair: Albert Jovell, Fundacio Biblioteca Josep LaPorte, President, Spanish Patients Forum, Spain

Most of us hope to remain healthy and active well into old age. Not only is this every person's right, but the fact that more individuals survive into very old age has strong advantages for society and economy. The most common health-related drivers of quality of life are presented and discussed in this plenary panel.

Presented and organised by Merck & Co., Inc., USA

Here you find a first view of the programme. Please check our website for up-to-date information on the programme and invited speakers.

A WARM WELCOME TO ST. GALLEN

Lovely Landscape

The St. Gallen-Lake Constance Region has everything that an attractive metropolitan region should have. Nestling between Lake Constance and the rolling Appenzell Region, the 'Gallus City' offers not only a lovely landscape but also the historically important Stift District (monastery district) with its world-renowned Abbey Library and Cathedral (UNESCO World Heritage). There is also a wealth of other sightseeing attractions: ornate oriel windows, monumental art nouveau buildings, and several marvelous examples of modern architecture.

Diverse Museums

The wide choice of museums and the cultural scene are also impressive: the unique Textile Museum, Art Museum, Sankt Gallen Art Hall, Natural History Museum, History & Ethnology Museum, Museum in the Warehouse, St. Gallen Theatre, Lokremise and Tonhalle offer a feast of fascinating exhibitions and performances.

Leisure Time

If sightseeing has made you tired, you can take a break in one of the street cafes or cosy 'first floor' restaurants. Explore the 'City Lounge' designed by the artists Pipilotti Rist and Carlos Martinez, where a red carpet spreads out between the buildings, above which hanging lamps give off a warm glow.

Knowledge Centre

St. Gallen is known not only for its must-see sights, but also for its reputation of being at the cutting-edge of education and events. St. Gallen University is a leading light in education and training in eastern Switzerland, the entire Lake Constance Region, and worldwide.

ABOUT THE WDA FORUM

The World Demographic and Ageing Forum (WDA Forum) recognises that demographic change presents not only a formidable challenge, but more importantly a unique opportunity. Only through an integrated approach can sustainable solutions to an ageing population be developed. We thus place an interdisciplinary emphasis on the societal, economic, health and educational-political impacts of these foreseeable changes. It is to this purpose that we have established an international, inter-generational, and permanent forum for questions pertaining to ageing and generations, offering the possibility for a worldwide coordination of efforts and activities on a range of topics.
